

Linguistic Studies

1) Studies on Contrastive Linguistics

This course aims to identify commonalities and differences between Korean and other languages, and learn how to apply them effectively to Korean language education as a foreign language.

2) Introduction to Korean Linguistics

Students will practice how to analyze the characteristics of phonemes, intonation, morphemes, sentence structure, and discourse in Korean language through various linguistic examples (models). On the basis of the knowledge acquired in this way, the formation of the Korean language will be studied.