

April 5, 2023 Wednesday

Time		Speaker/Presenter	Topic
9:00 AM		Major General Joseph (Joe) Jarrard, US National Guard Bureau Director of Operations, Washington DC	The role of the United States National Guard in human security
10:00 AM		Dr. Volker Franke, Professor of Conflict Management, Kennesaw State University	Addressing prolonged social trauma in conflict or post-conflict societies by creating space for psychological rehabilitation.
11:00 AM	Panel Discussion: Human security challenges in post-conflict societies
		Dr. Dan Papp, Retired President of Kennesaw State University; President, Papp Consulting	Panel moderator
		Dr. Nilofar Sakhi, Lecturer of International Affairs, George Washington University	Human security in Afghanistan with reflection on Iran
		Dr. Eric Wolterstorff, Founder and leader of Sovereignty First	Human security and the safety spiral. Prolonged social trauma in conflict or post-conflict societies.
		Dr. Jaroslaw Jarzabek, Associate Professor, Institute of International Studies, University of Wroclaw, Poland	Responsibility to protect and human security – a failed (?) attempt to secure civilian lives in armed conflicts
		Dr. Cristina Matiuta, Associate Professor, University of Oradea, Romania	Human security and war: Case study on Ukrainian refugees in Romania
		Dr. Raluca Viman-Miller, Associate Professor, University of North Georgia
		Dr. Volker Franke, Professor of Conflict Management, Kennesaw State University	Contributor

April 5, 2023 Wednesday, Continued

Time		Speaker/Presenter	Topic
1:45 PM		Sarah Dawn Petrin, Non-resident fellow at the Atlantic Council's Scowcroft Center for Strategy and Security	Why human security trends matter the most? An analysis of economic, health, political, food, environment, personal, and community security.
2:45 PM	Panel Discussion: Role of national defense in mitigating human security challenges
		Dr. Kevin Stringer, Colonel, U.S. Army (Retired), Chair of Education, US Irregular Warfare Center	Panel moderator
		Dr. Ieva Gajauskaite, Assistant Professor, General Jonas Žemaitis Military Academy of Lithuania	Deterrence by democratic resilience: The sixth column. Positive peace is rooted in the concept of human security, the ultimate goal of which entails the resilience of society based on unity and non-violent societal attitudes arising out of common good.
		Dr. Tiia-Triin, Manager of Academic Outreach, Baltic Defense College, Estonia	Human security perspectives within comprehensive defence: How does “will to defend” figure into human security?
		Lieutenant Colonel Karl Salum, Lecturer, Baltic Defense College, Estonia	Resilience against Russian threats: the Baltic States' experiences and perspectives
		Dr. Steven Fleming, Colonel, US Army (Retired), UNG Professor of Geospatial Science and Intelligence	Geospatial intelligence: Applications for security and safety operations
4:15 PM		Dr. C. Anthony (Tony) Pfaff, Colonel, US Army (Retired), Research Professor for Strategy, the Military Profession and Ethic, Army War College Strategic Studies Institute	National security versus human security: Implications for Ukraine
6:30 PM	Social for all symposium participants and attendees at the Smith House in downtown Dahlenega

April 6, 2023 Thursday

Time		Speaker/Presenter	Topic
8:40 AM	Panel Discussion: Topics in human security challenges
		Dr. Robert "Robin" Dorff, Consultant for Carl Marks Advisors and The Leadership Collaborative. Former university provost/senior vice president for academic affairs.	Panel moderator
		Dr. Joanna Dyduch, Associate Professor, Jagiellonian University, Krakow, Poland	Why individuals matter: The case of human security and de-securitisation of Israeli energy policy
		Dr. Varun Gupta, Associate Professor of Logistics and Analytics, University of North Georgia	Disruptions in supply chains resulting in delivery delays of essential survival products during peacetime or critical supplies during conflict
		Dr. José de Arimatéia da Cruz, Professor of International Relations and Comparative Politics, Georgia Southern University	Drones, crime, emerging technologies, and human security challenges in the Americas
		Dr. Mark Grzegorzewski, Resident Senior Fellow, Department of Strategic Studies, US Joint Special Operations University	Modern warfare has transformed into blended—physical and cyber—operations, and the supply chain is under increasing compromise by cyber threats
10:00 AM		Eeben Barlow, Founder and Chairman, Executive Outcomes, Author. Former Commandant in South African Defence Force units	Strategic intelligence as a mitigator to human security challenges in Africa
10:45 AM		Dr. Igor Chirikov, Senior Researcher and SERU Consortium Director, University of California, Berkeley	Scholars at risk: The impact of the war in Ukraine on higher education
11:35 AM		Patricia McQuiston, Lieutenant General, US Army (Retired), former Commanding General of US Army Material Command	Personal insights into international supply chain issues affecting human security

April 6, 2023 Thursday, Continued

Time		Speaker/Presenter	Topic
1:10 PM	Panel Discussion: It's a jungle out there: The growing threat of environmental crimes to national security
		Dr. Michele Devlin, Professor of Environmental Security, US Army War College, and Professor of Arctic Health and Human Security, National Science Foundation	Panel moderator and presenter
		Dr. José de Arimatéia da Cruz, Visiting Professor, Strategic Landpower and Futures Group, US Army War College	Environmental security is a relatively new field that has numerous definitions and specialty areas. In general it is recognized that a secure and stable environment is necessary for peace and prosperity of communities, and that environmental insecurity can contribute to conflict, poverty, social destabilization, and war
	Dr. Abubakarr Jalloh, Assistant Professor of Global Public Health, Hollins University, Roanoke, Virginia
2:00 PM	Panel Discussion: Putting the past on ice: Evolving security considerations among human populations is a warming Arctic
		Dr. Michele Devlin, Professor of Environmental Security, US Army War College, and Professor of Arctic Health and Human Security, National Science Foundation	Panel moderator. Case studies are presented on how human populations are changing the Arctic, and what the implications are for security operations from a strategic standpoint.
		Army War College Scholars presenting:	Civil-military relationships in growing indigenous populations in a warming American High North to improve security operations
	Colonel Bridges Colonel Thompson Lieutenant Colonel Fisher, PhD Lieutenant Colonel Nelson	COVID-19 and 1918 flu pandemic lessons learned to mitigate future mass infectious disease outbreaks in circumpolar north
	Impact and security implications of climate change on human migration into the Arctic
	How should US military address evolving command and control needs of its operations in the High North?
3:00 PM	End of symposium		